ORDER

Tou Thao (2),
J. Alexander Kueng (3), and
Thomas Kiernan Lane (4),

Defendants.

I. INTRODUCTION

This matter comes before the Court on the Government’s Unopposed Motion to Designate Case as Complex Under the Speedy Trial Act as to Defendants Tou Thao, J. Alexander Kueng, and Thomas Kiernan Lane (ECF No. 44) and Unopposed Motion to Designate Case as Complex Under the Speedy Trial Act as to Defendant Derek Michael Chauvin (ECF No. 52). These motions are largely identical; each motion requests that the Court designate this matter as a complex case for purposes of the Speedy Trial Act and continue deadlines. (Compare ECF No. 44 with ECF No. 52.)

II. MOTIONS TO DESIGNATE CASE AS COMPLEX

In support of its motions, the Government states that “while the underlying facts of the crime alleged in the indictment are relatively limited in scope, the nature of the prosecution presents challenges” and these challenges make the case and discovery process complex.<sup>1</sup> (ECF No. 44 ¶ 2.) The Government notes that while the facts alleged in the indictment are tied to a single day, disclosures have, and will continue to be, voluminous. (See id.) This includes information derived from “independent but coordinated investigations” conducted by federal and state agencies for multiple prosecutions based on the same conduct in state court. (Id.) Further, the Government anticipates that the state court trial of Defendants Thao, Kueng, and Lane, currently set for March 2022, will generate additional relevant discovery, which will require supplemental disclosures in excess of the discovery previously generated by the trial of Defendant Chauvin in state court. (Id.)

The Government provides additional detail as to this voluminous discovery, including that responses to grand jury subpoenas have yielded “thousands of documents and items of media” and the Government currently possesses “hundreds of gigabytes of media data and document discovery (totaling tens of thousands of pages and media items).” (Id. ¶ 3.) Because of the volume of data involved, discovery in this matter is being processed out of state. (Id.)

The Government also highlights that this matter is likely to produce testimony by multiple expert witnesses for both the Government and the defense, and the reports produced by these experts may be subject to pretrial litigation. (Id.) Lastly, the Government states that the “processing and disclosure of records in this case is also made complex” by efforts to provide the voluminous discovery to defense counsel in an organized manner. (Id. ¶ 4.)

In sum, the Government asserts that the case’s complexity, as well as “the nature of the investigation and prosecution, including but not limited to the complicated factual and legal issues involved, expected expert testimony, and the volume of discovery the Government will produce” necessitates an enlargement of time periods allowed by the Speedy Trial Act. (Id. ¶ 7.) The Government requests a continuance of all deadlines “by at least 60 days.” (Id. at p. 5.) There has been no objection by Defendants. (See id. ¶ 8; ECF No. 52 ¶ 8.)

The Court finds, pursuant to 18 U.S.C. § 3161(h)(7)(B)(ii) and (iv), that due to the large amount of discovery, the nature of the evidence collected, and the number of expected expert witnesses, this case is so complex that it is unreasonable to expect adequate preparation for pretrial proceedings and for the trial itself within the time limits established by the Speedy Trial Act. The Court additionally finds, pursuant to 18 U.S.C. § 3161(h)(7)(A), that the ends of justice served by granting such a continuance outweigh the best interests of the public and Defendants in a speedy trial and such continuance is necessary to provide the Government, Defendants, and the parties’ respective attorneys reasonable time necessary for effective preparation.

The Government’s Unopposed Motions to Designate Case as Complex Under the Speedy Trial Act (ECF Nos. 44 & 52) are GRANTED. This case is hereby designated as “complex” within the meaning of 18 U.S.C. § 3161(h)(7)(B)(ii) and (iv).

III. GENERAL ORDER NO. 28

Beginning on March 13, 2020, and continuing thereafter, the Honorable John R. Tunheim, Chief District Judge for the United States District Court for the District of Minnesota, has issued a series of General Orders in connection with the COVID-19 pandemic, addressing, among other things, criminal proceedings and trials.<sup>2</sup> On April 29, 2021, Chief Judge Tunheim entered General Order No. 28, which allows limited in-person proceedings to start on May 3, 2021, for defendants who decline to consent to conducting the proceeding using videoconferencing, or telephone conferencing if videoconferencing is not reasonably available. See generally In re: Updated Guidance to Court Operations Under the Exigent Circumstances Created by COVID-19, Gen. Order No. 28 (D. Minn. Apr. 29, 2021). General Order No. 28 states that because only limited in-person proceedings may be held each day, criminal proceedings may be continued until the date that the criminal proceeding takes place.

General Order No. 28 continues to encourage the use of videoconferencing in criminal proceedings and states that, with the defendant's consent, criminal proceedings will be conducted by videoconferencing, or telephone conferencing if videoconferencing is not reasonably available.<sup>3</sup> General Order No. 28 further provides that the presiding judge will enter orders in individual cases to extend deadlines and exclude time under the Speedy
